RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1879.

NO. 1500

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

A movement is on foot in Oakland to place a citizens' ticket in the field at the coming municipal election against the Workingmen.

A Virginia dispatch on the night of the 3d says there is no change in the Sutro-Savage fight. The water was to have been turned loose to-day.

A warrant has been issued at Walla Walla for the arrest of Chief Meece.

Heavy rain showers on the 3d are reported from Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and San Bernardino.

The Solano grand jury is in session.

Cape Town advices to January 14th report that fighting with the Zulus has been renewed.

A correspondent at Rome reports that a basis of agreement between Bismarck and the Vatican has been attained.

The Theatre Royal London, which originally cost $150,000, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. No lives lost.

It is reported the Black plague has made its appearance in the province of Ceara, Brazil. Five doctors have been sent there.

Paul De Cognac, whose election was invalidated by the French chamber of deputies, has been re-elected by a majority of 600.

Ten thousand dock laborers are on a strike in Liverpool. Ten thousand more are out of work in consequence of sickness of trade.

It is feared that before next year half the inhabitants of the Southern provinces of Morocco will have perished by starvation and disease on account of the scarcity caused by last year's drought.

A manifesto, signed by Castellar and one hundred others, who were members of the Spanish Cortes in 1878 has been issued, and urges Democrats to participate in the elections and abstain from all illegal action.

An Austrian imperial ordinance, identical with that of Germany, prohibits the importation of a large number of articles from Russia, and orders the disinfection of all arrivals therefrom. The Galician authorities memorialize the Government for the immediate establishment of a cordon against Russia.

Midhat Pasha will shortly receive a firman for the organization and equipment in Syria of a gendarmerie, with foreign instructors and officers.

A similar corps will be organized and the Vizier will be sent as an experiment to the province of Kusamul. If the experiment succeeds, the system will be extended to other provinces.

The New Orleans mint, which has been idle for nineteen years, resumed business Saturday.

Three brothers named Heinrich were drowned in the Ohio river yesterday by the upsetting of their skiff.

The Canadian Government has passed the order in council prohibiting the importation of American cattle into Canada.

A three-story building, the workshop connected with the reform school, near St. Paul, Minn., was burned yesterday afternoon. Loss, $17,000; insurance, $6,000.

Yesterday morning a west-bound train on the Canada Southern railroad, while standing on Lyon's Creek bridge, Welland, station, was run into by another west-bound train. One engine and a caboose were burned, eighteen cars smashed, and the bridge also considerably burned. George Tyler, brakeman, was fatally injured.

The committee appointed to receive and audit the claims of depositors against Archbishop Purcell have already received evidences of indebtedness amounting to over $1,000,000, exclusive of interest, and it is known that all claims have not been presented. Property already in trustees' hands to meet these claims is estimated to be worth about $900,000, and it is feared the present scheme to secure depositors may fail.

There are ten miles of social telegraph line in Vilage.

Great temperance revival is in progress at San Francisco.

The pavilion at Sacramento is now used as a county hospital.

The East Grand Prize mine was attached yesterday, and in consequence, work was suspended on the mine for a few hours. Mr. S. G. Weston, the superintendent, came to the rescue, and promptly paid the amount claimed and set the men to work again. The owners of this mine are fully determined to prospect it thoroughly and find out the value of their claim. They will not be stopped by trifles.

Amador Dispatch, Feb. 1st: A little daughter of Mrs. Hudson, near Lone City, was accidentally shot in the hand and almost instantly killed, on Friday of last week, by a rifle in the hands of one of her playmates, with which they were amusing themselves. The gun had been placed in one of the out-houses as a useless and harmless implement. To the unfortunate mother of this little girl, troubles are not coming singly. We understand that she lost her husband a little over a year ago, followed by the drowning of her child one last fall, and now comes the sad incident above related, separating from her her only remaining

CALIFORNIA ITEMS.

A new organ has been received for the Presbyterian church at Dixon.

Farmers in the Pajaro section say the rains are coming just right; that the prospects for a good season are fair.

The rainfall at Lemo City for this season, ending January 31st, has been 4.57 inches. Jackson reports to date, this season, 8.19 inches; same period last year, 12.69 inches.

The First Congregational church in Oakland, just completed at a cost of $100,000, is one of the handsomest structures of the kind on the coast.

Most of the orange trees in Dixon, which were last week supposed to be dead, will come out all right; in fact the orange trees stand it better than the gum trees.

A mud pump is expected to be up at Grand Island this week to repair the breaks in the levees. As soon as these breaks are repaired a great amount of water on the island can be removed.

George Gusman, the man who committed the last murder at Visalia, has been arrested. He was found at Lick ranch, Los Angeles county. He confesses the deed, and says the cause was jealousy. He is the fiend who married a woman in order to get a chance to rob her, and then, to cover up his crime, murdered her.

Marin Journal: W. Vanderbilt, Esq., of Tomales, was in town yesterday. He tells us that the last storm has been of incalculable benefit to crops. It was a beautiful rain, and every drop sank into the ground. The early sown fields are looking first rate, and none will have to be resown.

The fruits have kept back the growth, but grain is now rooting nicely, and farmers wear smiling faces.

The two men arrested on suspicion of having thrown the turn-table switch at Cofax, which caused the accident last week, have been examined before Justice Kuenzly. The evidence was considered by him sufficient to bind them in the sum of $1500 each.

They not being able to procure the necessary bonds, were taken to Auburn, where they now await the action of the grand jury.

Folsom Telegraph: Many flowering shrubs have been injured and killed by the late cold weather. Orange trees have also suffered, but although their leaves may have a shriveled and yellow appearance, they may still live.

The serious effects of the late cold weather will have a tendency to discourage many from planting these trees, but if they reflect that the cold weather of the past few weeks may not visit us again for years—and perhaps never—they will at once see the folly of being discouraged in the culture of these useful and beautiful trees.

Midhat Pasha will shortly receive a firman for the organization and equipment in Syria of a gendarmerie, with foreign instructors and officers.

A similar corps will be organized and the Vizier will be sent as an experiment to the province of Kusamul. If the experiment succeeds, the system will be extended to other provinces.

A STATE PROJECT.

There is no subject which so nearly concerns the people of Nevada to-day as irrigation. There is no direction in which the state has greater possibilities. There is no question more easily solved. If men could be convinced that by sinking a thousand feet they would find a body of ore of any size they would pour out money like water. If they were convinced that by canvassing a certain town they could sell some goods they would spare no pains or expense. The bonanza of one would cost more than the profits. The goods sold might be paid for and might not, but men would rather lose money that way than to doubt it in schemes of reclamation. There are dozens of localities in this state where fine, level, productive lands might be made fruitful by the outlay of a fraction of their value. There is water in plenty running to waste which if utilized would make Nevada the greatest cattle state outside of Texas. It would cause a million apple trees to bloom inside of five years. It would stretch fences across the valleys. It would build up rich and beautiful towns. It would provide homes for hungry thousands. Men say the country is too new; there is no demand for land, etc., but there is a loud and constant demand for it. There is not a place to make a decent home anywhere in the vicinity of settlements that is vacant. There is not an irrigating project within our borders that is not watched anxiously by people who want a home and a patch of ground to call their own. Most of our mining towns and cities are well built up and there is no work for the army of carpenters and laborers who did the work. All the buildings needed for years are already built in Virginia, Gold Hill and Austin, and workmen must look elsewhere for support. What more natural than that they should look to man's surest source of livelihood, the soil. The one great question for the people of this state to decide, the one which more nearly concerns the future of the commonwealth than any other is shall private parties own the water or shall it be held by the state for the use of her children. If the water of the rivers may be led off and owned by any one who builds a ditch the future is full of trouble, of discriminations and extortions, of monopolies and perhaps of popular uprisings and massacres. The present legislature has it in its power to inaugurate a wise system of irrigation which will be a blessing to the state for all future time. It can at this time get the sole ownership of the water of our rivers by simply taking possession of them and conducting them over the desert lands. The monopoly of land is as nothing to that of water. The region of Smartville, California, is cursed with a water company which has taken it into its head to be farmer as well as miner. It charges settlers 25 cents an inch per day. One gardener paid $207 for water to cultivate seven acres of ground. Such instances would, no doubt, soon be numerous in this state if private companies are permitted to monopolize the irrigating waters. The general government would, doubtless, grant the desert land of Nevada to the state as it did the swamp lands to Oregon and California. The government could then build by contract or otherwise, canals to redeem the land. There can be no dangerous monopoly of land which must be irrigated. Large tracts cannot be profitably farmed here and the only monopoly to be feared is in water.

A CHANCE FOR RENO.

In a letter from Lake City published in to-day's Gazette our readers are informed that a Redding, California, company proposes to build a telegraph line across the mountains touching at Adin, Alturas and Fort Bidwell and reaching far into Oregon where it connects with lines to Portland and all points. This project should be forwarded by a line from Reno by all means. It would do much to unite us with our natural friends, the citizens of the northern country. A line across the mountains would be expensive to construct and difficult to maintain. It would be snowed under in winter, and lie broken for weeks, one from Reno would be but little longer and much more serviceable. The California towns have displayed much greater energy than we have. A line connects Bismarck and other distant points with towns in the Sacramento valley. Reno must wake up.

H. S. MASON'S LECTURE.

Mr. Mason hit the nail on the head when he said that Mr. Fair could build a railroad of his own and thus compel the V. & T. R. R. to give him fair rates. That is just what Mr. Mackey did say a year ago, and he put a party in the field to survey the route. It is believed, and freely asserted that when Mr. Mills returned from the East so that a special rate could be given to the bonanza folks on wood and lumber from Huffaker and Virginia the work was stopped. Mr. Mackey could have built his own road and given the public the advantage of reduced rates but he can control the country better to have a low rate over the old road which the public cannot get, than to have low rates himself and at the same time have every one else putting materials into their mines at the same price. This is just what the people of Nevada complain of and are trying to remedy. The argument that the Williams bill would be good enough for the Central Pacific but not for the Virginia and Truckee, is rather weak. We can see no reason why it costs more to move freight over the little road than the big one. Indeed we believe it costs less, and we are decidedly in favor of equal rates and no discrimination in favor of either the roads or their customers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The editor of the Truckee Republican can desire the people of Truckee to believe that the Gazette is unfriendly to them. In his haste to make this point the Republican editor shows very little regard for the intelligence of his readers. The Gazette has published more definite information in regard to Truckee's interests than has lately appeared in the Republican, and every patron of the Gazette in Truckee knows that its columns are open to him at all times. The casual reader can see that the Republican editor concerns himself, not so much with the interests of mill men, as with his own desire to misrepresent a neighbor. The responsible firms named in the Republican will be slow to credit the Republican editor with saving Truckee. The millions of Truckee want only their rights, these we have never assailed, for they were secured long ago and without aid from the Republican. Mr. McGlashan is a fish commissioner, he has fished in this instance for cheap popularity.

The Silver State is right. Senator Stewart's resolution to petition congress to grant a bonus of lands to aid in seeking for artesian wells deserves the support of the entire state. There are millions of acres that must forever lie idle unless watered by artesian wells. The uncertainty of the expense necessary alone prevents experiments now and if the inducements were increased it would be an easy matter to start the ball to rolling.

Since the high water the river has been a riley, whirling, tumbling mass of sawdust, the Truckee Republican to the contrary notwithstanding. A poor lonesome little fish wouldn't know his own mother two feet away and many of the citizens have been measuring their drink by board measure.

Mr. Conkling seems to be in no danger of breaking the time-honored rule that no senator can be President. His defeat in the war which he himself created with the President on appointments in the civil service, lays him on the shelf with Webster, Blaine and other dead candidates.

The Santa Rosa Democrat entered upon its seventh volume on Monday last. It represents a fine section of our sister state in an able and enterprising manner.

It is not just to turn Suite adrift just when he has drifted so well.—S. P. Post.

LORD ULLAN'S DAUGHTER.

The Facts in the Case Set Forth in Humble Prose.

A chieftain to the Highlands boud cries, "Boatman, do not tarry, and I'll give to thee a dollar and a half to row us across the lake."

"Now, who be ye would cross Loch-Gyle this dark and stormy night?" asked the ferrymen, with much curiosity.

"What is that to you, bald-headed snipe of the valley?" asked the chieftain, growling pale about the gills.
"If I pay a good round sum for your services, it appears to me your interest in the matter should end there. Do you require the pedigrees of every man, woman and child you take across in your infernal scow? If it wasn't that I'm in a hurry I'd smack your jaws for your impudence, but as it is, displaying a handful of coin, as it is, I'm the chief of Ulva's isle, and this—Lord Ullan's daughter.
His horsemen hard behind us ride, and should they overtake us here in the glen it would go hard with us."

Out spoke the hardy Highland wight, while he unlocked his skiff and told them to get in: "I'll go, my chieftain, I'm ready; but considering the terrible storm, I hope you will make it two dollars, although as a matter of fact, I do not venture forth for a mere moneypenny consideration, but for your winsome lady. I have been there to some extent myself, and can appreciate the situation; so, by my word, the bonny bird in danger should not tarry. Sit a little more in the middle to trim the boat, please, and here we go!"

By this the storm grew loud space, the water writh was shrieking, and things looked almighty dark. But still, a wider grew the storm, and as the night grew drearer, adown the glen rode at least a dozen men with old Ullan at the head on a cream-colored mule. "Oh hate thee, hastle!" the lady cries; though tempests round us gather, "I'll meet the raging storm but not an angry pa." So on they rowed amid the roar of waters fast prevailing, and when Lord Ullan reached the shore his wrath was dreadful to behold. And no wonder For, sore dismayed, through storm and shade, he discovered his daughter out in the boat with a smile on her lip and salt spray in her eye, and both arms around her lover. For a while it seemed he would take it out of his hired man and the cream-colored mule, as he declared he would have the former beheaded as soon as he got home, and the latter he was hammering over the ears with a club.
Presently he took another tack: "Come back! come back!" he cried in grief, across the stormy water, "and I'll forgive your Highland boy, by daughter! oh, my daughter! and also settle the bill with the ferrymen."

But the young lady could not be caught so easily. Neither could the young man, who told the ferrymen to press on, and then, and then, turning around in the boat, still keeping one arm about his sweetheart to prevent her falling out, called to the old gentleman:

"Much obliged for your kind, invitation my dear sir, but we will not come back at present. You can expect us, however, in the course of a week or ten days. Till then, adieu!" Lord Ullan called again: "Twas vain;
the loud waves lashed the shore; return, they wouldn't think of it. In fifteen minutes they were on the other side, the ferrymen wondering what he would do with a twenty-dollar gold piece, and the young couple were inquiring the way to the nearest justice of the peace.

MRS. H. A. MOORE'S

SCIENTIFIC HAIR PRODUCER.

Mr. H. A. Moore would announce to the ladies and gentlemen who desire the personal advantage of his hair, that he has patented his celebrated Hair Restorative, which has now been before the public for a space of two years, and has in every instance been entitled to the name of what it promises.
No mineral or dangerous substance is used in this preparation, and it is guaranteed to prevent hair falling out after four applications.
Well-known cases of long standing hairiness have been successfully treated (as per testimonial in my possession) and produce a full flowing crop of hair on all stages of baldness, even to its most pronounced state. It will prevent hair from growing gray.

Preparations forwarded to all parts of the country.

ONE BOTTLE, $5; THREE BOTTLES, $10.

Address, Mrs. H. A. MOORE,
